TERRY'S TIDBITS

Each New Year brings a positive outlook. Yet, we all know that life goes on each week. The passing of time always brings us to the present, reminds us of the past and anticipates the future. We may wonder where it goes or why it goes so fast, but it remains constant. Time allows us to measure the day. It gives us permission to rise up and accomplish a task. It seeks to be filled with activities that honor our Creator. Time provides excitement when a child is born. Time shrouds us with grief when we have loss in our families. Time gives us snapshots of children who grow so quickly. Time allows us to relax after a hard day. Time permits us to have seconds, minutes, hours, days, weeks, months and years. Time provides routine. For all that time does it must be guarded. It can be wasted. It can be productive. Time waits for no person. Time goes faster than we think. We even sometimes wonder where it went. Time should also allow us to notice the infinite and timeless God that we serve. For God a day is as a thousand years and a thousand years is as a day. Remember to plan your time. Realize time on this earth will end. So prepare for eternity where there is no time.

Bro. Terry
